

MEDIA RELEASE

Savewater excellence in Warragul

15 November 2011

All media enquiries: Jenny Hammett 5177 4793 or 0448 905 833

Managing Director of Gippsland Water, David Mawer has praised Warragul's AgVet Projects Pty.Ltd for achieving the Excellence Award at the savewater! Awards on Friday night.

"This award recognises outstanding innovation and achievement in water conservation and efficiency, and in a highly competitive field of entries, AgVet's Greencleaning™ has been recognised as the best of the eight category winners, said Mr Mawer.

"Rob Greenall and Gabriel Hakin's milking machine cleaning system not only reduces energy and chemical requirements but reduces water consumption by more than 50%. This has truly great potential for water saving on an international scale", Mr Mawer commented.

"AgVet is the second savewater! winner from Warragul since commencement of the awards in 2002. The Warragul Linen Service won in 2005. I am delighted to see these Gippsland businesses heralded as leaders in the practical application of water saving initiatives.

Gippsland Water as a member of the savewater! Alliance, actively promotes greater water saving initiatives and we encourage people to share their stories of successful water saving innovation with a wider audience by participating in the 2012 awards," said Mr Mawer.

For further information on saving water visit Gippsland Water's website

www.gippswater.com.au