

Colour in Local threatened species we're working to protect

Narracan Burrowing Crayfish

A brightly coloured burrowing crayfish with a leaf-shaped tail.

Scientific name:
Engaeus phyllocercus.

Status: Critically endangered.

Fun fact:
Burrowing crayfish live underground but breathe water through gills instead of air.

How do they do it? Damp soil is all they need to breathe.

Gippsland
Water

Caretakers
for tomorrow